

Take a breath...

A nice place to rest your head

Fox Meadows offers four guest homes that can sleep up to four each. Our guest homes offer a full kitchen, wood-burning fireplace and an outdoor dining area. There's even a TV and VCR if the birds, animals and flowers can't hold your attention.

All the amenities of home

The guest homes at Fox Meadows are fully handicap accessible.

So whether you are relaxing in front of a warm fire or enjoying the evening breeze on the front porch, you'll find all the comforts of home.

A different point of view...

The view from the rocking chairs

As you turn down the dirt road to the guest houses of Fox Meadows, you can leave the worries of everyday life behind you.

Fox Meadows is the perfect place to lose the traffic, turn off your phone and just listen to nature.

Come let the stars be your nightlight. Let the birds be your wake-up call. And let the rocking chairs be your evening entertainment.

We think it's pretty special here.

Our backyard

Smell the Texas wildflowers...

Fox Meadows Nature Conservatory is located on 50 acres in the Post Oak Savannah. There are 1.6 miles of hiking trails through natural grasses, around ancient trees and alongside beautiful native wildflowers.

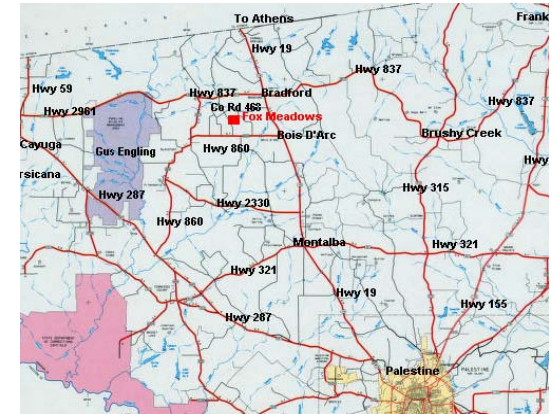

Our lake

Take your lunch to one of five shady picnic areas and enjoy the many species of native birds. You might even see quail strolling by or hear wild turkeys calling in the distance.

Spend the afternoon fishing in the five acre catch-and-release lake and let the night sky amaze you with its endless stars.

We pride ourselves on preserving the landscape, birds and animals that have made East Texas such a unique spot for generations.

Enjoy a slower pace...

Located between Athens and Palestine

Don't let the slow pace fool you. There are all kinds of things to do and see just outside of Fox Meadows' gate.

Explore the nature of East Texas further at The Davey Dogwood Park, Gus Engeling Wildlife Management Area and the Texas Fresh Water Fish Hatchery.

A short and scenic drive will take you to Tyler, the Rose Capital of the World.

Visit the Edom art community and explore Canton's First Monday Trade Days for a unique East Texas shopping experience.

We're just minutes from the Texas State Railroad—Texas' last operating steam engine traveling from Palestine to Rusk.

And enjoy the taste of East Texas at the Bradford Country Depot, Dogwood Tea Room, Eilenberger Bakery and the world famous New York, TX Cheesecake Bakery.
